

The Sarbrook Company, Inc. has partnered with Packaging & Technology Integrated Solutions (PTIS), a recognized leader in management consulting across the global packaging value chain and VACAVA Inc, a leader in contact center and work flow solutions and an established provider of sophisticated business systems to reduce business process complexity, to create Specifi™, a new specification management system.

The new Specifi software answers the need for value and efficiency in specification management. It is tailored for packaging, raw materials, and finished product specifications. You can implement it without a programmer or IT support. You get database sophistication, yet the look and feel of your other business programs. Specifi delivers all of this at a price that gives you value.

Visit the Specifi website at www.specifi.com for more details.
